Facebook- students will have the option to view and comment on a classroom Facebook page without friending the teacher, that provides them with updates and provides an alternate way to contact the instructor.

Students understand that on-line privacy and safety is important to us. Please be conscientious of the personal information (students) post on-line. Due to the nature of interaction in the course on-line students should consider the following when posting to an open forum:

1. Be aware of the information that you publish online.
2. Consider publishing your work under your first name or a pseudonym
3. Moderate your posts and comments.
4. To remove any identifiable information (Names, nicknames, family member names, etc.)
5. Consider hiding your blog from the search engines
6. If you use a blog to publish your work, consider turning off the update notification service.
7. Consider publishing your work as “private posts”.

We want to take every measure to ensure safety and privacy of information, as well as promote responsible internet practice.
